Use Your Networks

- Do you know someone from Europe who is interested in European funding programs?
- Suggest to them to submit together a Horizon 2020 proposal
- Do you attend international conferences?
- Do networking with other participants which have the same interests as you and ask them
- Have you published any papers with researchers from Europe?

Upload profile and finding Partners in CORDIS

The screenshot shows the CORDIS website interface. At the top right, there are links for "About CORDIS", "Contact", "Search CORDIS", "Legal Notice", and a language dropdown menu set to "English (en)". The main header features the European Commission logo and the text "CORDIS Community Research and Development Information Service". Below this is a breadcrumb trail: "European Commission > CORDIS > Partners Service > Guest > Home" and a "Sign in" button. A navigation bar contains several menu items: "Home", "News and Events", "Programmes", "Projects and Results", "Top Stories", "research*eu magazines", "Research Partners" (highlighted), and "National and Regional".

Tips/ Steps to finding partners (1)

Before you start discussions with possible partners make a short document in which you will address :

- 1.A few pieces of information regarding your organization ,
- 2.Tasks that you are interested in undertaking as a partner in the project (Thus you should answer what is your role).

Steps to finding partners (2)

- Discuss with the possible partners initially by exchanging emails (or by using Skype) and follow up appropriately if you have further interest.
- You may be required to travel before submitting the proposal in order to have meetings with the other members of the proposed consortium.

Recommendation on choosing partners

It is recommended :

- Some of the partners in the consortium know each other in advance – have established long working relationships
- It is added value to have in your consortium partners who are well known in the scientific and entrepreneurial communities they operate in - this may give you bonus in the evaluation
- All the partners should be equally experts in their field

Thank you
